

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my cellular telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current cell phone service unaffordable for the manner in which I use it.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. I make near zero long distance calls from my cell phone. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone "only" for safety, security and convenience. I do not use it for general conversation. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,
